MEMORANDUM FOR COMMANDER, Pacific Ocean Division (CEPOD-PDC)

SUBJECT: Implementation Guidance for Section 3006 of the Water Resources Development Act of 2007 (WRDA 2007) – Tatitlek, Alaska

1. Section 3006 of the WRDA 2007 raises the statutory Federal participation limit for a project at Tatitlek, Alaska, to be implemented under Section 107 of the River and Harbor Act of 1960, as amended, (33 U.S.C. 577) to $10,000,000. A copy of Section 3006 is attached.
2. A feasibility study for the subject project was initiated in 1996 under the authority of Section 107 of the River and Harbor Act of 1960, as amended, (33 U.S.C. 577). Work on the feasibility study was put on hold in 2004 when the estimated Federal costs were determined to be approximately $6.4 million.
3. At such time that section 107 funds are made available for the project, the District may resume work and complete the feasibility phase in accordance with the procedures in Appendix F of ER 1105-2-100 including consultation with the Office of the Assistant Secretary of the Army for Civil Works, except that the $10,000,000 Federal participation limit authorized for this project supersedes the statutory Federal participation limit of $7,000,000 shown for section 107 projects. If the feasibility phase identifies an economically feasible project, it may be considered for further implementation in accordance with existing budgetary policies and guidance. Further, if a Project Partnership Agreement (PPA) is prepared for the subject project, increasing the statutory Federal participation limit from $7,000,000 to $10,000,000 in the proposed PPA is not considered a deviation from the model.
